Under the transportation act, which creates the labor board, it is said, the decision of the board is final and can not be reconsidered. The trend of opinion in the "big four" brotherhoods, however, is to accept the cut "informally" or temporarily and re-open negotiations with the roads individually.

Facing Grave Situation.

"Both the railroads and the employees are facing one of the gravest situations in their history," said E.
F. Grabel of the maintenance of way men.
It is a time for cool heads. No one can forecast the outcome now."

The executives will meet again at 10 o'clock this morning and a statement of the course of action determined upon may be given out late this afternoon, although the meetings may drag along over Sunday and Monday.
"Nothing definite has been decided," said Mr. Sheppard. "The trend of opinion at this time, however, is to avoid nasty talk."

"The legislation of the last year in no attempt to fix wages by federal law has produced a serious situation and narrow economy in buying."

PERIL OF RAIL STRIKE WANES;

Union Chiefs Will Decide Policy.

Talk of a nation-wide rail strike was current when 1,500 chairmen of various unions met here yesterday to pass on the United States railroad labor board's 12 per cent wage cut which went into effect yesterday morning.

But last night conservation was in the air. The

on the more radical representatives of the maintenance of way men, telegraphers and other organizations which received a 20 per cent reduction.

Three Courses Open.

Three courses of action are open:

one to reject the labor board's cut which will mean a strike. Another is to accept the reduction, which is extremely unlikely in view of the attitude of the employees. The third,
which is likely to be adopted, is a middle of the road policy looking towards future mediation of the wage question.

The Pershing order is expected to go far toward relieving a situation caused by the lack of an adequate organization of soldier relief agencies. The pending Sweet bill creating a veterans' bureau is designed to provide an adequate organization.

Congress adjourned today until next Tuesday, however, without any move by Senator Smoot to call a meeting of the subcommittee before which the Sweet bill, passed by the house, is pending.

Hopes to Act—Next Week.

He said he would call the members of the subcommittee together on short notice next week, at which time he "hoped to hold hearings" on the measure as the first step toward putting it through the senate.

The inadequacy of the hospitalization program authorized by congress is already apparent. There are nearly 30, 000 ex-service men undergoing treatment, and applications for care are increasing at the rate of 1,000 a month.

In the army, navy, and public health service hospitals there are nearly 18, 000 discharged soldiers receiving treatment, and approximately 11,000 state, county, and private institutions on a contract basis.

Surgeon General Cumming of the public health service says there are 10,000 ex-service men in hospitals lacking facilities for proper care.

Help Heroes,
First Order
by Pershing

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
Washington, D. C., July 1.—[Special.]—Gen. Pershing, assuming office today as chief of staff, issued as his first order instructions to the army to aid ex-service men in obtaining the care and other relief to which they are entitled. The order follows:

"Assistance for ex-service men in their relations with the bureau of war risk insurance.

"1. It is the purpose of the war department, acting through its available personnel, to assist ex-service men in every possible way in securing contact with the bureau of war risk insurance, thus enabling them without delay to renew or convert their insurance, to secure medical or dental treatment, hospitalization, or vocational training, or to present their claims for compensation.

Who Shoulders Obligation.

"2. The obligation is imposed upon all personnel adjutants through the army, recruiting officers, and regular officers on duty with the national guard and organized reserves, to aid their less fortunate comrades. Such officers will at once familiarize themselves with the orders and circulars relating to the war risk insurance bureau, in so far as these instructions refer to renewal or conversion of insurance, compensation, medical or dental treatment, hospitalization, and vocational training, so that intelligent assistance and advice may be afforded ex-service men in regard to their relations with the bureau.

"3. The officers mentioned will obtain from the war risk insurance bureau a supply of all blank forms needed by ex-service men in their contact with this bureau.

Officers Must Aid Men.

"4. Upon application from ex-soldiers, the officers mentioned in paragraph 2 will furnish blank forms will assist in the preparation of applications, will carefully examine all papers or instructions on the forms in question, and will themselves promptly forward the completed applications or statements direct to the bureau of war risk insurance, treasury department, Washington, D. C."

we will have two men absolutely determined to be the one irresistible force in attack. And the only answer to it is that one or the other will not be irresistible. Will it be Dempsey or Carpenter?

Advantages on Each Side.

Physically there are advantages on each side. Dempsey is about eighteen pounds heavier and two inches taller. In build the men are of a different type. Dempsey has a heavy jaw, a thick, short neck, and a generally deep, rounded body, well muscled all over and apparently showing good lines of endurance.

Carpenter has a long neck, not thick but well in proportion, high cheek bones, and a jaw that is wide but not heavy. His body is that of a trained gymnast. He is wide and not deep. His shoulders are broad and well muscled. His back is wedge shaped, with long banks of muscle extending from the armpits to just above the waist. His chest and back are flat. From in front or behind he looks like a heavyweight and from the side more like a little middleweight.

Comparison of Underpinnings.

Dempsey's legs are straight lined, thin, and long, able to hold him with no bulging muscles. They are rather light for his powerful torso. Carpenter's legs are long from hip to knee and short below the knee. His calves are the biggest thing about him, with big, bulging muscles. He uses these powerful calves by fighting well up on his toes. This gives him added height if he wants to use it.

Carpenter has a peculiar knack of hitting, using the long banks of muscles along his sides to put driving force into his punches.

Today I had a talk with a well known English sportsman who has spent years in Australia and the country, following boxing. He has seen Dempsey fight, and says he thinks him one of the best heavyweights that ever held the championship.

Even Chance for Carp.

"But Carpenter has practically an even chance to win," he said. "I've seen Carpenter in five fights. His training here has been mere fooling, that's the way he always trains. He never shows anything in training. When he goes in to fight he is entirely at his ease."

He is intensely concentrated on winning. He is a well balanced boxer with a perfect body defense, shift, foot work, and two good hands. He has a great left and uses it all the time, but his right is the finisher. He never lets that right go unless he is sure of landing, and when he lands right he can knock down any man living.

"I think a few dollars that I'm going to bet on the proposition that if there's a knockdown in the first round Carpenter will land it. He may not keep Dempsey down, for Dempsey is very rugged, but I wouldn't be surprised if he dropped Jack with the first blow struck. I think he has an even chance to stop Dempsey, and I'm sure you're going to see a corking fight, no matter which way it goes."

That Gunboat Smith Fight Again.

"I saw Carpenter knock Gunboat Smith out clean after a minute and a half of the fourth round. The timekeeper counted nine and then rang the bell to announce a knockout, but before the bell was rung Smith was allowed to start again."

"Carpenter moved around until he had Smith open for another right, and let it go. Only an accident saved Smith. He slipped and Carpenter's punch grazed him. Carpenter was swung off his feet by missing that punch and fell to his hands and knees, and Smith nopped him while he was on the floor. "Smith was given a ten count, but had just taken a twelve round decision. Langford, Carpenter outclassed him. Dempsey may beat Carpenter by outlasting him, but there won't be much difference between them in punching ability. Carpenter is a great boxer and can take care of himself, and if Jack is a little slow he'll never give the Frenchman any trouble."

"That may be all true, but Dempsey isn't weak in shift, skill and effective hitting."

Earns Knockout "Rep."

Dempsey was a very good fighter when he began. He earned a reputation as a knocker-downer in his first preliminary bouts. He learned boxing by strapping his right arm to his side, using his left and ducking around punches. He is a natural ring general. When he fought big Café Morris in New Orleans he walked over and, diving under Morris' guard, hooked a left into the pit of the big man's stomach—a clean knockout with one blow. With Fulton he kept a few feet from his horns and waited. When Fulton jabbed and caught both of Dempsey's arms to hold them to his sides, Dempsey simply turned his body until his left arm was away from Fulton and hooked an overhand left to Fulton's head that dazed him. Three more punches and Fulton was out in less than fifteen seconds of boxing.

Tactics Used by Dempsey.

Against Willard, Dempsey stepped in and retreated alternately. He almost turned his back to Willard in stepping aside, and Willard followed. Whirling around, Dempsey slipped under Willard's jab and delivered a right to the body and a left to the head. Willard never remembered what happened after that.

Dempsey let Miske make a good start, and then hit him on the ribs with a right hand, practically leaving him defenseless. With Brennan he took a lot of beating in early rounds, whether he was sapped Brennan's strength with short body blows before dropping him in the twelfth. Brennan was conscious, but he couldn't get up.

The arena built for the fight in Jersey City is the biggest ever constructed since Rome put up the Colosseum. It seats over 30,000 people. The crowd will start early, and tubes and ferries will be jammed for hours before the bout, and for hours after it. Scores of small and private yachts and launches will help ferry people across the Hudson.

Fight Will Draw Big Sum.

The counterfeiter ticketed that have been issued are said to come from the genuine. The big fight will draw about a million and a half, perhaps even $1,000,000. This is more money than all the heavyweight championship fights in America in which titles changed hands have drawn, lumped together.

Sullivan and Corbett, Corbett and Fitzsimmons, Fitz and Jeffries, Jeffries and Johnson, Johnson and Willard, Willard and Dempsey—all of these great champions have battled together and only a little over half the sum paid by 90,000 fight fans to see Dempsey and Carpenter.

For the total gate the promoters might have to sell in about thirty rights like the McGovern-Corbett, Erne-Lavigne, Gans-Nelson, Wolgang-Ritchie, Leonard-Welsh, Fitzsimmons-Dempsey, McAuliffe-Carney, and they would still be running the show at a profit.

WILL IT WORK OUT?

Jack Dempsey shows the punch he hopes will put Carpenter to sleep. What will Georges do in the meantime?

FANS BY LEGIONS BEGIN MARCH ON RICKARD'S ARENA

Traffic Clogs Ferries from New York.

BY ROBERT LEE.

NEW YORK, July 1.—(Special.)—This morning the Hoboken ferries were clogged with traffic for four and a half hours. The march to Jersey City is on.

By tomorrow afternoon we shall know whether the Dempsey-Carpenter fight is to be known as the greatest of all time. Until now it is. The hotels are packed to suffocation. The lobbies are like frenzied wheat pits in an active market. The talk is of Dempsey and Carpenter and odds and odds and punishment and endurance and swings and jabs and knockouts.

A journey to the bout is his way through ten cars of heavy traffic observing the trend of attention to public matters.

One elderly gentleman was reading an editorial. All the others were buried, neck deep, in sporting pages. Yes, the editorial was about the fight.

Crowds in Times Square.

In Times Square a dozen audiences were gathered about. In the center of each was a dowdy individual uttering sounds relevant to the magnificence of the fight. Craned necks ached in desperation rather than loss to the ears of the single syllable.

The orators were such as on another occasion might be standing at the door of an alley waiting for the dropping dime. Now their words are on the eve of advancing their particular theories of survival.

Fight Is Only Topic.

They are talking, thinking, sleeping, and eating fight. The cigar clerk who usually serves you with such brief and syllabic toleration now asks you which you think will win. And he listens avidly to your opinion.

He listens to all opinions. He craves opinions. He has a perfect mania for opinions. He asks you, on the other hand, if you do not entertain the hypothesis that perhaps, after all, taking into account consideration, what condition, cleverness, and all, Carpenter may work some magic and thus upset the traditions.

Not only the cigar clerk but the telephone girl, the porter, the motorman, the banker, and statesman, and hobo. Nothing else is worth while.

Start Stories on First Page.

More has been printed about this fight than about the battle of the sexes.

The New York newspapers begin on the first page and lead the reader through many back pages. Is Carpenter inured? Is he? Is he? Is he? and over and over and over again this point is explained. Thus, also, with Dempsey.

Miles of figures have been shown. Calculations down to the merest fraction of what the government is likely to exact from the dime that Oliver Twist is going to pay Bill Sykes for a bottle of pop are set forth in balance sheets, graphic charts, and literature.

Months ago the interest in the fight was a matter of incidental discussion from the outside, but today it has come a strangle of the world to a closeup of New Jersey. And Jersey City is taking the honors as if it were only a minor matter to be handling 100,000 strangers on a hot July day.

Will Watch the Crowd.

Inside the arena with telephones, radios and all the paraphernalia of a general will be John Bentley, director of public safety. In a glass compartment at the main entrance will be stationed Chief of Police Battersby. The glass case is elevated so that the chief may watch the operation of more than 1,000 motorcycle and foot policemen in their handling of the crowds. Several hundred men will be inside the arena.

Parking space for automobiles has been regulated in a measure. The city will charge $2 for each machine parked in certain streets to be closed for the day.

Today the police who are to take part and the ushers were put through a "dress rehearsal" to prevent any confusion in the seating of the $1,000 odd spectators.

The transportation companies, tube and ferry and street railway, have all prepared for the rush of business. Extra boats, trains, and cars will be under way the first thing in the morning.

J.P. MORGAN NOT AT FIGHT; SAYS HE DISAPPROVES

NEW YORK, July 1.—(Special.)—J.P. Morgan, head of the banking firm which bears his name, will not attend the Carpenter-Dempsey fight tomorrow. He let it be known today that he has no idea of attending and that he strongly disapproves of the affair.

Mr. Morgan's name was included in the list of persons men and women who had reserved spaces near the Jersey City ring, as given out by the promoters. The inclusion of his name in this list, friends of Mr. Morgan said, was unauthorized and unwarranted.

Mr. Morgan would not be quoted on his attitude on the fight. His son, Junius Spencer Morgan, will not attend, and, with other members of the Morgan family, has gone out of the city for the holiday.

GEORGES WAGERS $10,000 ON BOUT

Manhattan, N. Y., July 1.—(Special.)—How they fared out at the Carpenter camp was indicated by a bale of kale sent into town to bet on the Frenchman.

Georges went in $10,000 of his own money to bet on himself at the best obtainable odds.

"I might as well have some of that money to bet on myself against my chances," said Georges, with his ever-present smile.

Shows How Carp Clinches, Picks Their Pockets Clean

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

PARIS, July 1.—Two Americans had their pockets picked today by an English speaking Frenchman who engaged them in conversation on the spot results, pinning his faith in Carpenter by the challenger's clinch. The newcomer excitedly offered to show the Americans how Carpenter clinches and at the same time abstracted their pocketbooks containing 1,500 francs.

BY EYE WITNESS.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 1.—(Special.)—Kearns says— and Kearns has a mind that works well in making epitomes—that the morrow's contest will prove to have none other in thirty years that seeing has become supremely a game of movement.

Thirty years means since John L. Sullivan's time. "And," Kearns adds, "today John L. himself would not even find a fellow like this man Dempsey. He'd be lost in this game of movement. Fighting's progressed in thirty years just as the rest of the world has."

"Jack Dempsey today is the greatest defensive fighter in the world because he's so offensive. If he just wanted to use his boxing ability instead of his other powers I don't believe there's anybody on earth could lay a glove on him."

And yet Jack Dempsey, by Kearns' standards, had no movement when that nippy promoter picked him up in seventeen. "But," says Kearns, "I could see he was a willing, game fellow, though too dependent on his right. He'd want to sock with it because he knew that there lay his hitting power. But I tied his right to his side and he got so he could slip and duck and he began to use his left like a buggy whip. Now he's always full of movement, though not to such a degree. He's never had a target now—always going and ducking and wiggling around. He never bulls in."

All this is valuable as bearing on tomorrow's plan of battle. Much has been made of Carpenter's speed, and rightly so. But let none of the well-wishers of the Gaul from the coal country delude themselves as to the speed of the lad from the western mines.

Takes Earle to See Carp.

I know Jack has trained well, as he is in touch with me, and he has taken good care of himself and hasn't wasted his strength," she added, with a mother's confidence.

"I do not see how he can possibly lose," Mrs. Dempsey declared today, as she sat in the living room of the old Dempsey home here, where she and the champion's father, Hyrum Dempsey, lives.

"I am not going to watch the returns from the fight. I would make me nervous. I am going to spend Saturday working, and I know where the Dempsey-Carpenter fight is to be known as the greatest of all time. Until now it is.

They—the crowds—are jamming the corridors and lobbies. What space isn't taken by the early arrivals is occupied by mounds of suitcases. Even the checkrooms are full.

Chicagoans are scattered all around town. It would take a week to make a complete list of all the folks here from "back home." QUIRINAL AND VATICAN AGREE TO END FEUD?

Full Harmony Restored, Rome Hears.

BY P. L. CONELLAN.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]
ROME, July 1.—Secret negotiations between the Catholic church and the Italian government practically have been completed for a renewal of relations between the Vatican and the Quirinal after being severed for more than fifty years.

Neither side is willing to admit officially that the long negotiations for resumption of relations finally have been crowned with success owing to expected opposition from the Socialists, but a propitious time is being awaited for making the announcement.

Announce Accord Next Fall.

This moment is expected next autumn when the body of Pope Leo XIII. is to be transferred from St. Peter's church to the cathedral church of St. John Lateran, where he expressed a desire to be interred, and where his empty vault awaits him.

On this occasion Pope Benedict will leave the Vatican for the first time that any pope has left it since 1870, and march with the procession escorting Pope Leo's casket through the streets of Rome between files of Italian soldiers and gendarmes who will line the route of the cortège.

During the last fifty years the popes have remained virtual prisoners within the Vatican. Although physically free to do so, none has stepped outside.

All Europe to Be Represented.

Resumption of relations between France and the Vatican with the recent nomination of M. Jonnart to represent Quai D'Orsay in Rome, marked an important step in the Italo-Vatican pourparlers, as Italy thus remains the sole European power unrepresented at the Vatican.

Optimists in the pope's entourage express their belief that the United States soon will send a delegate to the Vatican in order that the state department may be completely informed on international problems discussed there.

The impending resumption of relations between the Vatican and the Quirinal is expected to result in creation of an autonomous state under Vatican sovereignty, thus giving the papal temporal power inside its own domain.

Bounds of Proposed State.

It is believed the present Vatican grounds and several blocks of properties surrounding it—not including St. Peter's cathedral, however—will mark the boundaries of this temporary state.

In these circumstances Vatican guards and papal police would patrol the zone and the various delegates accredited to the Vatican would establish their quarters inside the area.

Italy has numerous important interests in Palestine and other lands where Italian missionaries are engaged in work. To safeguard Italian interests there, as well as in other regions now involved in international disputes, it is regarded as one of the Quirinal's chief interests in resuming contact with the Vatican.

Problem of Peacemakers.

During the peace conference the delegates of the great powers disposed of the German colonies which involved limitation of German armament and teachers and their replacement by citizens of the allied countries. Great difficulty was experienced in adjusting the Catholic missions because of the required consultation with the pope. The representatives of the United States were powerless to help, as there had been an American ambassador to the Vatican. The French then had no ambassador to the pope and with Italy severed from the Vatican there remained only Great Britain to bring the matter before the holy see.

SINN FEIN HEADS DISCUSS BRITISH BID TO LONDON

Will Announce Stand at Dublin Monday.

DUBLIN, July 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—Shortly after the release from Mount Joy prison of Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein organization, on Thursday, Eamonn de Valera, the Irish republican leader, went to Mr. Griffith's home in Clontarf and conferred with him. Mr. de Valera also conferred with Prof. John MacNeill, president of the Gaelic League, who was released with Mr. Griffith.

The Irish republican leaders are in general accord and will state their common case at the conference in the Mansion house here on Monday.

Unionists Urge Acceptance.

The attitude of the southern Unionist representatives who will attend this conference is understood to be favorable to acceptance by Mr. de Valera of the invitation of the British prime minister, Mr. Lloyd George, to confer with representatives of the British government and northern Ireland in London.

They are said to be in substantial agreement with the republicans in demanding the separation of northeast Ulster, and the unionists are to be in the direction, it is believed, of increasing the power of the central council which will bind together the northern and southern parliaments.

Senate adopts conference report on peace resolution. It will be sent to President Harding for signature in New Jersey.

Representative Chandler, Oklahoma, in defending crude petroleum and fuel oil duties in the tariff bill, said the purpose is to prevent the Standard Oil company from becoming a monopoly and to give the independents a chance. He promised cheaper gasoline.

Further railroad investigation by the senate committee on interstate commerce postponed until August. Walter L. Fisher, Chicago, was a witness.

RUBY, LOVE GIFT TO GIRL, TRAPS YOUTH AS THIEF.

"As long as this ruby glows my love for you will last," said John Mangi, 17, years old, of 903 South Bishop street, after a $300 ruby ring Thursday night to his high school sweetheart, Rose Rose, 16 years old, of 785 South Ashland avenue.

Yesterday he had agreed he had stolen the ring from Mrs. Gertrude Rosenson of 1447 Taylor street, the mother of a schoolboy friend.

"I loved Rose so much I wanted her to have something that would constantly remind her of me," he told Lieut. McDowell of Maxwell street. "I did not have enough money to buy her a ring. At the home of Harold Rosenson I saw the ruby ring on a table and couldn't resist taking it. They won't let Rose in jail for having it, will they?"

He is booked on a charge of burglary. The ring was recovered.

RAIL PEACE HOPE GROWS; 5 UNION CHIEFS TO DECIDE

Committee Picked to Fix Pay Policy.

use in this country," said another official. "And it is likely to continue serious. There is a strong sentiment among the men against striking at this particular time because it would be the best time as far as the railroads are concerned to call a strike and the worst for the men."

"But there is just as strong a sentiment against accepting this wage reduction and there is no telling what the wind may blow. It is my belief that the unions will go to the individual roads and say: 'Here, we won't accept 6 per cent. or some such figure. Then, if the roads refuse, a strike is inevitable.'

Referendum Votes Taken.

Some of the unions already have taken referendums which are said to reject the new wage. Some referendums are in progress now, particularly that of the maintenance of way men, and some are yet to be taken. Some of the delegates here are equipped with full power to act for their organizations, while others will have to report the decision back to their unions for ratification. All are pledged, however, to first try the general referendum proposed.

A hopeful sign of the success of the mediation policy came with an official announcement given out at the international headquarters of the clerks' union in Cincinnati that representatives of that organization meeting with heads of departments of the American Railway Express in New York have reached an understanding extending the old agreement as to working conditions indefinitely pending further negotiations.

Shop Crafts Men Meet.

Following the executives' conference yesterday Mr. Jewell presided at a meeting with the international presidents of the six shop crafts which assembled last night at 2 o'clock. Those present were J. A. Franklin of the boilermakers; Martin J. Ryan, car men; James O'Brien, sheet metal workers, and J. E. Anderson, vice president of the machinists, who was acting for W. H. Johnson, the president, now in Europe.

In the afternoon the "big four" brotherhoods—engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen—met at the Oriental Consistory, after which each craft went into separate conference. The Order of Railway Conductors, headed by Mr. Sheppard, and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, headed by G. C. Clark of Toledo, Ohio, and the Grand Chief H. M. Daugherty, held day and night sessions at the Masonic temple. The firemen also met at the Masonic Temple, while the switchmen assembled at the Fort Dearborn hotel, the clerks and telegraphers at the Lexington and the trainmen at the Oriental Consistory.

While the brotherhoods were meeting other organizations were holding group meetings in the various hotels and the railroad labor board handed down a decision announcing another wage cut. The new decision cuts the wage of the 5,000 shop employees of the Pullman company from 6 to 8 cents an hour, the same reduction named for the railroad shop crafts. The wage reduction becomes effective today.

Yesterday he had agreed he had stolen the ring from Mrs. Gertrude Rosenson of 1447 Taylor street, the mother of a schoolboy friend.

"I loved Rose so much I wanted her to have something that would constantly remind her of me," he told Lieut. McDowell of Maxwell street. "I did not have enough money to buy her a ring. At the home of Harold Rosenson I saw the ruby ring on a table and couldn't resist taking it. They won't let Rose in jail for having it, will they?"

He is booked on a charge of burglary. The ring was recovered.

FOREIGN NEWS IN BRIEF

Henry Feiler, 2102 Morse avenue, president of Feiler, Kemp & Co., printers at 543 North La Salle street, was killed by an automobile yesterday at Clark and Illinois streets. He stepped in front of a wagon, the driver darted up his horse, Feiler leaped aside and jumped in front of the machine. The auto was driven by Thomas J. Griffin, 425 Adams street, who was booked on a charge of manslaughter. Griffin took Feiler to the Passavant hospital, not knowing he was dead.

ASIANS DAMN GERMAN GENERAL WITH WAR GUILT

Take No Prisoners, Kill

BY GEORGE SELDES.

Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.

LEIPZIG, June 28.—[Delayed.]

One hundred and twenty German commanders ac-admitted yesterday that no prisoners were to be taken, that captives were to be slain, and that even the wounded were to be put to death, was testified to here yesterday and today before the Supreme court of Germany.

The trial is the first of any of the war leaders and also the first of "war criminals" cases in which

French are the accusers.

In the five minutes of yesterday's testimony it was clearly established that

Gen. Karl Stenger, commandant of the 18th Bavarian brigade, had ordered his men to "not captain like sparrows" when he was told that French machine guns had been captured near Alsenz, August, 1914.

Admits "Murder Order."

Furthermore, Stenger admitted or-

ding "shoot them on the spot."

He then informed that some of his men had been fired upon by American pennants.

Beyond all doubt the fact was established through German testimony that under orders of their superior officers numerous wounded

Frenchmen had been murdered on the battlefield by German soldiers.

Stenger based his defense on the distinction between ordering all wounded killed and ordering only those who continued firing after being killed.

Admits "Murder Order."

ding "shoot them on the spot."

WHO GOT THE BIG MONEY?

From time to time the suggestion is made that the executive committee of the Chicago Plan commission take jurisdiction over the charges that the city of Chicago was defrauded of millions of dollars on the valuation of real estate and buildings in connection with the "City Beautiful" improvements. Such suggestions are invariably coupled with the intimation that Mayor Thompson, Controller Harding, President Faherty of the board of local improvements, Messe and Lynch, building experts, and Waller, Lyons and Marigold, real estate experts, are merely charged in the public print with conspiracy to defraud for political purposes and that they have indignantly refuted such charges.

Now, what are the facts in the case? They are that on April 19, 1921, The Tribune company filed a bill in the Superior court of Cook county, charging in substance that Thompson, Harding, Faherty, Lynch and Messe, together with divers other members of the Thompson-Lynch machine who are unknown, entered into a conspiracy to defraud the city of Chicago out of enormous sums of money. That in the year 1920 Messe received $490,599.44 and Lynch $574,881.44 from the city for services claimed to have been rendered as building appraisal experts, although any reputable appraisal concern would have performed the same services for the city for not more than $50,000. That Messe and Lynch did not keep the money so paid to them but divided and distributed it among members of the Thompson-Lynch machine who are not known; that the payment of such outrageous sum was made possible by Mayor Thompson's veto of an ordinance passed by the city council which would have rescinded the resolution under which the services of Messe and Lynch were retained and also by the unlawful practice of paying these experts out of corporate funds not appropriated for that purpose.

In these suits The Tribune company asks that the defendants be made to divulge the names of the persons who were the actual beneficiaries of the conspiracy and asks that the defendants be made to repay to the city the sums already taken and that the defendants be enjoined from carrying on this conspiracy further.

Shortly after the defendants were served with summons by the sheriff The Tribune company started to take the testimony of the defendants for the purpose of substantiating the above charges. The defendant Messe was summoned to appear, but refused to do so, and on the same day the city of Chicago and Mayor Thompson appeared before the court and asked for a continuance of the cause for the statutory reason that Samuel Etelson—who represented both the mayor and the city—was a member of the state senate and could not be called upon to appear as a lawyer until July 10, 1921, ten days after the adjournment of the legislature.

After obtaining this delay the defendants filed a demurrer to the charges of The Tribune company, not denying the truth of the allegations, but setting up that even if the facts as alleged were true the city was not entitled to repayment of these enormous sum and that the taxpayers were not entitled to have future enormous payments stopped. Various technical reasons were also set up in the demurrer to show that the suit should not be maintained.

On June 1, 1921, C. W. Hunt of La Crosse, Wis., filed in the District court of the United States a suit against the same defendants for practically the same relief and setting up practically the same charges as were contained in The Tribune company's suit.

On June 4, 1921, Sam Henley of Rushville, Ind., filed suit in the same court against Thompson, Harding, Faherty, and Edward C. Waller Jr., Ernest H. Lyons and Arthur S. Marigold, real estate appraisal experts, charging a conspiracy and charging that the city had been cheated out of $1,738,079.25, paid to these real estate experts in the year 1920. The bill also charges that the three real estate experts divided these enormous sums with unknown persons.

As recently as June 20 the attorneys for the defendants in the two federal court cases asked for a postponement in order to file their defense, and were granted thirty days continuance.

On June 24 The Tribune company filed another suit in the Circuit court of Cook county, against Thompson, Harding, Faherty, and the three real estate experts to recover the $1,738,079.25 above mentioned. The time has not yet come for the defendants to answer this suit.

The council subcommittee, composed of Ald. Schwartz, Woodburn and Guernsey, has recently announced the appointment of attorneys to proceed with an investigation of the enormous sums paid to experts.

It is inexplicable waste. Payment of damages by railroads or water carriers cannot compensate a manufacturer or exporter for the loss of a customer. It is a cumulative loss. Care and efficiency will eliminate it. In self-defense they ought to be practiced by every individual having to do with the manufacture, sale, and shipment of goods.

TRY COALITION AGAIN.

[Doctor Herald.]

The anti-Thompson sweep in Chicago has commenced within a short time, that constant efforts are being made to involve the Chicago Plan commission in this controversy. Courts of law, organized for the trial of cases of this kind, have been applied to. Before them witnesses may be brought by force and be compelled to testify under penalties of the perjury statute. Upon the conclusion of such cases the court can exonerate the defendants or compel them to make restitution. The Chicago Plan commission cannot compel the attendance of witnesses, penalize for perjury, order restitution or make a legal finding of guilt or innocence.

It is obvious, therefore, that the Chicago Plan commission can perform no useful or legal function by interfering in the midst of these lawsuits and the court investigation. Why are the defendants seeking to appeal from the courts to the plan commission? An attempt to do so would constitute an attempt to pre-judge a pending lawsuit. It might constitute contempt of court.

THE DAILEY COMMISSION'S JOB.

The report to the legislature by the Dailey commission investigating building in Illinois indicates that the commission has just begun to fight. It asserts that illegal combinations of building material dealers are more to blame for restriction of building than are grafting business agents. It sees notice that investigation of such illegal combinations will be continued unremittingly until they are broken up.

That is good news. In taking that attitude Senator Dailey and his associates are putting themselves in for a lot of hard work and probably for much trouble. The toes they are likely to step on are very sensitive and may belong to men with power to resent such action through strong political influences.

If the efforts of such men to avoid the penalties of their coercive business methods, which have restricted and are restricting building in Chicago, keeping up rents and generally suppressing business, are not to hamper and perhaps nullify the work of the commission a strong public opinion must be developed and united in support of the commission. The fact that these material dealers have risen to wealth and power through crooked business practices is sufficient evidence that they will not hesitate to use further fraud and coercion to check the Dailey inquiry or to penalize members of the commission for their activities.

The blackmailing methods and threats of the crooked business agents have already been revealed by the commission. They were to be expected from men of the type involved and could be guarded against. With wealthy men bearing the reputations of substantial honest citizens, however, we have no such definite warning of underhanded practices and influences to be feared. If they strike a blow at the commission they are more than likely to strike from cover. It is necessary to be doubly on guard against such danger.

The Dailey committee has done excellent work to date. It has revealed conditions in building operations here which are a scandal, and which account sufficiently for the high cost of building and the high rents under which the city is laboring. But these conditions, while revealed, are not yet corrected. The committee must make clear its charges and the evidence in support of such charges against the building material dealers before adequate correction of conditions can be obtained. In this work it ought to have the united and unwavering support of every honest resident of the city.

THE NEW CHIEF JUSTICE.

The appointment of William Howard Taft to the chief justiceship will receive general approval. Mr. Taft has eminently the judicial mind and temperament and demonstrated in his previous service on the federal bench the qualities which make for sound and well principled judgments. In those large issues of national policy which it is the chief function of the Supreme court to decide for the safe progress of our country, Mr. Taft should be found an influence for good sense and consistent Americanism. He may be expected to defend our institutions with intelligence and apply American fundamental principles in a spirit of sane progress. American progress is essentially and wisely conservative and he should be conservative in the best sense.

Moreover, Mr. Taft will enter upon his new office at 64, and the country may expect from him a long term of active service, which is greatly to be desired.

A DEAD LOSS TO INDUSTRY.

The Illinois Central railroad appeals to shippers to eliminate an economic waste amounting last year to $104,358,880 on the railroads of this country through insufficient or improper packing and loading of commodities for railroad transportation. That amount of money was paid out by the class I railroads of the country for damages.

That much of this loss is unnecessary and due simply to carelessness or inefficiency is shown by comparison with the figures of 1916, when the total of such damages amounted to $23,346,965, or more than $80,000,000 less than last year.

There is in the figures and the appeal a tip not only for manufacturers and shippers but for rail road employees. This sum of more than $100,000,000 annually is a dead loss to the railroads and to the public through the destruction or damaging of property. It cuts down the net revenue of the carriers and indirectly results in higher freight rates and lower wages. That, in turn, depresses every branch of business.

If shipping clerks would remember these facts every time they pack a shipment of goods; if truckers would remember it every time they take such goods to a freight car for shipment; if freight handlers would remember it every time they load a car, and if switchmen, brakemen, and engineers would remember it in the handling of trains, that vast sum might go eventually into their pay envelopes.

It is the inefficiency as well as the wage per hour of workmen which helps to keep up the price of products. In the matter of packing alone, we are told, large consignments of American goods sent to South America have been refused or subject to delay in payment and decrease of orders because the goods were not properly packed and arrived in bad order. That keeps down the expansion of American business, reduces our orders, slows down or closes our factories, and reacts directly upon employer and employee alike.

It is inexplicable waste. Payment of damages by railroads or water carriers cannot compensate a manufacturer or exporter for the loss of a customer. It is a cumulative loss. Care and efficiency will eliminate it. In self-defense they ought to be practiced by every individual having to do with the manufacture, sale, and shipment of goods.

The Cook county Democrats named a decent ticket and self-respecting Republicans helped them put it over. Next year self-respecting Republicans may name a county ticket, but they had best consult their Democratic friends about it and not make the mistake of trying to put it over by themselves.

The physicians agree that the demand for relief is great. When it comes to explaining this form of ear trouble they do not agree. Some say it is an inherited condition and develops after the use of certain drugs. Others say it is due to changes in the bones of the ear region of the skull. Others say it is because of infections of the nose and throat which have continued for a long time, finally extending to the ears. Others say that it is the result of systemic infections in which the infecting agent locates in the bones of the ear, just as in rheumatoid arthritis it locates in the bones of the finger joints. There are still other theories.

I expect all of them are true. Certain cases are inherited—run in families. Certain other cases are due to infection which has extended to the ear from the nose and throat. Probably certain other cases are cut off the rheumatoid arthritis pattern. Careful examination will show which of these classes some cases belong. Some cases are found to be due to an association of two or more varieties.

To the readers of this column this matter has no special interest. Whatever the cause may have been, even though it be neglect on his part, is now a secondary concern. He is in trouble and what wants to know is how to get out and how to keep out. Some cases are helped by treatment of the nose and throat.

Drs. Pollock and Beck say that some cases are helped by the continued use of adrenaline. That drug seems to fix the minerals of the bone so that the tendency to become a sponge is changed.

Dr. Van Winkle, of the Medical Association of the Southwest Dr. E. E. Ernest referred to these changes in the bone itself in certain kinds of deafness developing in middle life. He said that some cases are benefited by iodides, especially where there is a history of vibration of the ear drum.

EXPRESS—BUFFALO.

Congress delays with the mass for intelligent care of disabled veterans of the war. The statement expresses deep concern for the sick and the disabled, but each gives a more or less valid reason why nothing could be done until next week or later. Most of us is to be pinned in Mr. Harding's decision to proceed with the present emergency.

CHRONICLE—SAN FRANCISCO.

Assistance is not available owing to the unison of congress in dividing responsibility for its administration and the prodigious volume of records which has swamped the civilian force in charge of them. It is a miserable administrative mess which might have been prevented by executive suggestion. The situation is to be remedied by bringing all forms of material assistance to soldiers under unified administration. But that does not help in the present emergency.

EXPRESS—BUFFALO.

After making allowances for all these groups we are compelled to admit that the outlook for this large group is not good if we have in mind restoration to youth.

Most of these cases are found to be due to an association of two or more varieties.

JOURNAL—MINNEAPOLIS.

Congress plays with the soldiers' bonus while the far more pressing problem of reconstruction for disabled soldiers is only half solved. Reports of the American Legion show sickening conditions, due to neglect and insufficient government support.

STIGMA ON GUY CHIEF REASON OF STILLMAN'S SUIT

Hoped to Cut Him Off as Heir, Hearing Hints.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 1.—[Special]—James A. Stillman, former president of the National City bank, was willing that Mrs. "Fifi" Stillman should get a divorce from him, and he started action against her only because he was advised by counsel that the legitimacy of Guy Stillman, young son of Mrs. Stillman, could be attacked in no other way.

This was brought out at the hearing before Referee Gleason today by questions put to Mr. Stillman by William Rand of his counsel, which referee Gleason would not permit him to answer.

Although the referee's ruling prevented even the questions being made part of the record, it was clear that Mr. Stillman's main complaint in starting his suit was to have Guy adjudged illegitimate and thus prevented from sharing in the $7,900 trust fund established by the will of the late James A. Stillman, father of James A. Stillman.

Little Boy Is Chief Issue.

It was explained later that the pre-arranged questions furnished another clear indication that Mr. Stillman and his attorneys, like Mrs. Stillman and her attorneys, consider the legitimacy of Guy the principal issue in the case.

Mr. Stillman was questioned by his attorney concerning gifts he had made Mrs. Stillman after the birth of Guy. Mr. Stillman yesterday admitted that he had given valuable presents to Mrs. Stillman on Nov. 14, 1918, six days after the birth of Guy, and on Christmas, 1918 and 1919.

"Did you have all the information which you now have and which caused you to start this action at the time you were making these gifts to your wife?" his attorney asked.

"I did not," Mr. Stillman replied. An effort to show that witnesses for Mr. Stillman had been bribed was made by John E. Mack, guardian for Guy, during the cross-examination.

"Do you know a man named La Fontaine in Grand Piles?" Mr. Stillman was asked.

"Yes," he replied.

Q.—Did you meet him in Montreal? A.—Yes.

Q.—You were in the company of Mr. Sullivan? A.—Yes.

Refuses to Answer.

Q.—Was the question of witness brought up? A.—I refuse to answer on the ground that it might tend to incriminate me.

Q.—Did you authorize payments to witnesses? Mr. Stillman refused to answer.

Q.—Did you authorize an effort to bribe witnesses? A.—I refuse to answer.

Most of the session this morning was devoted to legal arguments before it was decided to adjourn the hearing to July 14, 15 and 16 and July 23 and 29, to hold no hearings during the month of August, and to fix a date for the resumption early in September, at the July 29 session.

Refuge Again Bars Letter.

At the session this morning Attorney Rand again refused to let Mr. Gleason reverse his ruling and again admit as evidence the letter alleged to have been written on May 20, 1919, to Mrs. Stillman by Fred K. Beavis. This is the so-called "Dearest Honey" missive, known as Exhibit 12, and ruled out by Referee Gleason in a decision announced last Monday.

Attorney Rand then made an attempt to exhibit 13 A and 13 B, the "rolled oats and bacon" letter, with its envelope, alleged to have been written by Beavis to Mrs. Stillman under date of Feb. 11, 1919, admitted in evidence.

Referee Gleason had reserved decision on the motion of Mr. Mack to have this letter stricken from the record, subject to further proof of its authenticity from Mr. Stillman.

Apparently fearing that the attorney for the defense might produce testimony to make the admission of this letter less probable, Attorney Rand sought to have the letter admitted immediately. The referee said he would announce his decision later.

Wants Doctor's Story Banned.

Mr. Mack then moved to strike out more of the testimony of Dr. Hugh L. Russell, Buffalo osteopath, which concerned Mrs. Stillman. It appeared that only that part of Dr. Russell's testimony which bears on the issue of Guy's legitimacy has so far been struck out from the record.

Mr. Mack sought to have stricken out that part of the testimony which told of his alleged conversations with Mrs. Stillman concerning her condition and of her trips to Boston and other places. This testimony, it was explained, would have no direct bearing upon Guy, but might on the divorce action.

Referee Gleason announced that he would reserve decision.

One Volume and Four Books

BY ELIA W. PEATTIE.

IT may be said, with approximate accuracy, that the volume, "PSYCHO-ANALYSIS AND THE UNCONSCIOUS," which D. H. Lawrence, the well known novelist, offers to the sum of practical philosophy, was written in the interests of liberty (Thomas Seiter, publisher). To begin with, the work has capital beauty and exquisite style. Indeed, to some degree does it have them that at the present time that he hardly notices the objects which Mr. Lawrence insists that he shall observe. Mr. Lawrence is said to have made a discovery. That is questionable. But at any rate he breaks a lance for whoever is held fast in the old catch words of idealism. "What tyranny," he asks, "is so hideous as that of an automatically ideal humanity?"

Mr. Lawrence has no "outfit" in his vocabulary. He contemplates the mystery of the personality, of the unconscious self, with awe and religious admiration. He wishes it to be free. This freedom embraces all spontaneous and, Mr. Lawrence, quite unconsciously, emphasizes one desire, which he appears to regard as frequent—the incest desire. His conclusions on this point are startling in deed, and reveal a prepossession of that direction. Indeed, it will be recalled that one of his novels included such curious motive. He appears to think we can remove all horrors by coming to regard such suppressed impulses with horror. It is a point with which Mr. Lawrence and his associates may amuse themselves.

Most of us prefer to exercise our common sense, our healthy wills, and that form of freedom which arises from obedience to the law. There is no denying, however, that we do live too much by preconceived ideas. For example, home is not the holiest place on earth, no matter what the formalists may say, unless it indeed prove itself to be holy. Saying it is holy will not make it so. It is the way those in the home behave themselves that alone can make it holy. So far as Mr. Lawrence goes, he is for an absolute individualism, and may be termed the sacred superstition, the modern world will be with him. When he proposes that we release our impulses—let them rage like unbroken clouds without check of bit or spur—that is large, debatable, and exacting question.

SHIPS AND THINGS

It will be interesting to those who enjoy the richly imaginative and historic pages of Joseph Hergesheimer's "Java Head" to find that the best source of his knowledge came from an old auto-mechanic, George J. Piles, whom we now appear from the few sentences in a new and enlarged edition bearing the title "A SALEM SHIPMASTER: THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF GEORGE NICHOLS." The old shipmaster dictated the account in his eightieth year, and had, one may be sure, an exhilarating time in recalling the adventures of his youth and early manhood. They carried him to the far quarters of the earth and brought him into touch with men of many nations and races. But from each voyage he returned content to Salem and the beautiful old home, which, still deeply loves the beauties and witcheries of India and writes of them beguilingly.

WITCHERIES OF INDIA

Talbot Mundy, who writes often and well about India, offers "GUNS OF THE GODS" a fantastic, but more or less fascinating tale, to his readers. (Bobs-Merrill Co.) In it East and West meet in a rather unusual manner—one heroine being an Indian Maharani, the other a young American matron, wife of a mining engineer. Dark conspiracies gather about the heads of the women, and whatever Indian treachery can do to menace them, is done. But, quite gloriously, they escape and attain each her own idea of happiness. Mr. Mundy deeply loves the beauties and witcheries of India and writes of them beguilingly.

$1 A YEAR MEN MAY DO STATE'S LEGAL FIGHTING

Staff Crippled by Small, Friends Back Brundage.

"The attorney general's office will continue to function despite the staggering blow it has received at the hands of Gov. Small. If necessary we will call on public spirited leaders, several of whom have already offered to serve for $1 a year, to handle the state's cases. The political vindictiveness of Fred Lundin has considerably hampered the work of this office, but it can't stop it."

COL. FRANKLIN A. DENISON. This was Attorney General Edward J. Brundage's reply yesterday to the action of Gov. Len Small in slashing approximately $700,000 from the appropriation for the state's law department. Handicapped to the extent of having two-thirds of his working force cut away, and being unable to find a piece of carbon paper, repair a typewriter or hire a court reporter, the attorney general yesterday was making plans for carrying on the work of his department.

Tells of Tremendous Waste.

Even while he was writing letters notifying nearly seventy attachés of the Chicago office that there was no money to pay for their July salaries because of the budget slashing, which he ascribed to political vindictiveness, Mr. Brundage was trying to figure out means of carrying on the unfinished work left by them.

"Lundin has practically thrown millions and millions of dollars' worth of litigation into the waste basket by not allowing us the necessary attorneys to carry it to a successful conclusion," said Mr. Brundage. "He is simply paying his political debts. The money he is taking from my department he is giving to the new utilities commission, where his own men will have the spending of it."

Lawyers to Probe Vote Frauds.

Despite the handicapping of the attorney general's office, some 400 city hall followers accused of election frauds at the recent judicial election, will face prosecution. Attorney Amos C. Miller, a former president of the Chicago Bar association, and now chairman of the committee of candidates, stated Attorney Frederick A. Brundage had been selected to take charge of the investigation and prosecution, and, if necessary, the Bar association will furnish the funds.

Among the assistants and investigators released yesterday because of a lack of funds were five assistant attorneys general attached to the Chicago office, one of them a woman, Miss Ada N. Cartwright, daughter of Justice Cartwright of the Supreme court, the

SMALL'S REGIME ADDS 18 MILLION TO TAX BURDEN

Budget Is Ignored; Total Granted $169,655,093

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.) Springfield, Ill., July 1.—[Special.]—Illinois appropriations bill, which adjourned sine die last night reduces the total of $169,655,093.60. Of this $60,590,643.80 will be paid by direct state taxation. It is more than $18,000,000 in excess of the previous peak of such legislative appropriations.

If the $12,000,000 balance now in the state treasury is used up in paying these bills and the ordinary income of the state is up to the anticipated $30,000,000, the state tax rate can be kept at between 50 and 55 cents for 1922 and 1923, as against 40 cents for 1921. Each of those contingencies must be realized, however, to keep the state rate below 75 cents.

Economics and Expansions.

By cutting the attorney general's appropriations to $69,100,000, including a close elimination of all the machinery for enforcing the state bone dry law, and making sundry other slices, Gov. Small was able to veto out the omnibus bill $1,349,300.

The omnibus bill as it becomes a law carries $40,408,493.44, as against $28,722,370.14 two years ago. The omnibus bill as it came from the governor stands at $8,631,233.44 more than the January estimates of the budget submitted by the department of finance.

The budget was discarded in the last days of the session, and the $8,500,000 increase goes largely for the many new jobs, armory sites, and increases in salaries of administration favorites.

Gov. Small trimmed the University of Illinois budget of $10,500,000 to $8,860,000. Cuts were made in the normal schools and in the charitable institutions bill, by eliminating more than $200,000.

Summarized, by the funds from which the appropriations will be paid, the expenditures of the Fifty-second general assembly follow:

Fort Sheridan Army Officer Who Has Been Made Inspector General.

BRIG. GEN. ELI A. HELMICK.

New honors came yesterday to Brig. Gen. Eli A. Helmick, former chief of staff of Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood. The general, recently promoted, has been made inspector general of the army, it was announced at Fort Sheridan. Gen. Helmick has gone to Washington, where he will confer with high officials of the army as to his new duties.

For years under the Thompson administration the bare request for a confirmation of a temporary has been sufficient. In view of the removal of the authorization to employ the ninety-one persons, Richert, Igou, and Smith gave no evidence that a "bona fide emergency" exists, the civil service commissioners say. Therefore the commission exercised its authority and refused the renewals, ousting the ninety-one from their jobs.

The letters of notification hold out one olive branch which may make for peace through a compromise. Upon a proper showing as to the necessity for the services of the employees involved, the commission will consider issuing the necessary authorization for their emoluments.

The letter also agrees that in the case of the finance committee employees, no requests for the approval of the commission have been received and that consequently pay rolls for these employees will be no longer approved.

In cases where appointments of "temporaries" have been made by the mayor's cabinet officers the commission has "overlooked" this technicality and has permitted renewals of temporary authorities for months, and even years.

MAYOR LOPS 91 FROM CITY JOBS; DEMOCRATS HIT

W. Breen, acting corporation counsel, is received. That will be this morning.

There are almost 8,000 Lundin-Thompson temporaries on the city pay rolls, according to Ald. Joseph O. Kostner, and there will be plenty of opportunity for a counter attack if the aldermen decide to make one.

To "get" the ninety-one jobs, the merit board resorted to a legal technicality not utilized in years.

Section 8 of the state civil service law provides that appointing officers—in the cases involved, Ald. Richert, City Clerk Igou, and City Treasurer Smith—shall show a "bona fide emergency" exists, necessitating the appointment of a "temporary" before the merit board may authorize the ap-

SMALL RETAINS OLD MEMBERS OF UTILITIES BOARD

Springfield, Ill., July 1.—[Special.]—Gov. Small today appointed the five members of the defunct public utilities commission as members of the new Illinois commission, commission which was born at midnight.

They are Col. Frank L. Smith, Lt. Col. J. Lindly, Hal W. Trovillion, P. H. Moynihan, and James F. Sullivan. The appointment of the two additional members was not announced, and probably will not be for several weeks. It is stated authoritatively that no selection has been made by the governor. Probably both will be down-state lawyers, it is learned.

Rumor has it that Maj. Gen. Joseph B. Sanborn is out of his job as a member of the state tax commission because the legislature adjourned without having confirmed him as one of Gov. Lowden's recess appointees. Be that as it may, Gen. Sanborn was on duty this morning and cleaned up all the work that was in the office.

Devine Calls Small's Economy Unjustified

Springfield, Ill., July 1.—John P. Devine, Democratic leader of the house, tonight issued a statement on the appropriation bills.

"The governor's veto of relief appropriations," the statement read, "nullifies measures passed by the legislature to afford relief to the educational, charitable and penal institutions of the state, made necessary because of the inability of the state, due to war conditions, to provide for them during the past four years."

"This economy" on the part of the governor cannot be justified since he has failed to veto appropriations for salary increases, new jobs, monuments, armories and many other useless items."

STATE STREET BUSIER; BUYING BEING RESUMED

Metal Sales Show a Big Increase in 2 Weeks.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.

Chicago's shopping district is now registering one of the most cheerful symptoms that the business situation in general is ready to sit up and yell for nourishment as fast as prices relate to what the public considers a stabilized level. Buying is being resumed. The public is loosening.

Despite the decline in purchasing power due to unemployment, the volume of retail trade within the past two weeks has grown rapidly. The casual observer sauntering through the State street stores in the last few days, has been impressed with the indications of increasing trade. Compared with a month ago, many departments in the large stores are crowded.

In Wabash avenue, too, business is on brisker, and the same holds true of many of the shops along Michigan avenue. There is optical evidence that buying has made a substantial increase—it is common enough now to wait five or ten minutes to get a chair where a man sits again the moment a prospective customer poked his nose inside the door a squad of them rushed to give him attention.

"Business Picking Up."

A tour up and down the retail region in the last two days found clerks and department managers generally echoing one observation. "Business is picking up rapidly." Many casual sales with no particular reason were indicated, that the increased buying has not struck the upper strata of the more expensive goods, nor yet the inferior bargain grades, nearly as much as it has the great class of substantial goods in between.

The head of a large State street store, in generalizing upon the resumption of buying said yesterday, that during the first six months of 1921, business measured in dollars was in excess of the first six months of 1920. The drop in prices would mean that the actual volume of business in his store for the first half of this year was about 20 per cent larger than in 1920.

During the first half of June, buying dropped off. It looked like a slow month. But during the last fifteen days of June, according to this expert's figures buying revived to such an extent that trade in June, measured in dollars, was not more than 10 per cent behind that of June, 1920. As the last month has seen more price drops, it would mean that this June business ran almost one-third higher in volume than in June of last year.

Real Values Interests Public.

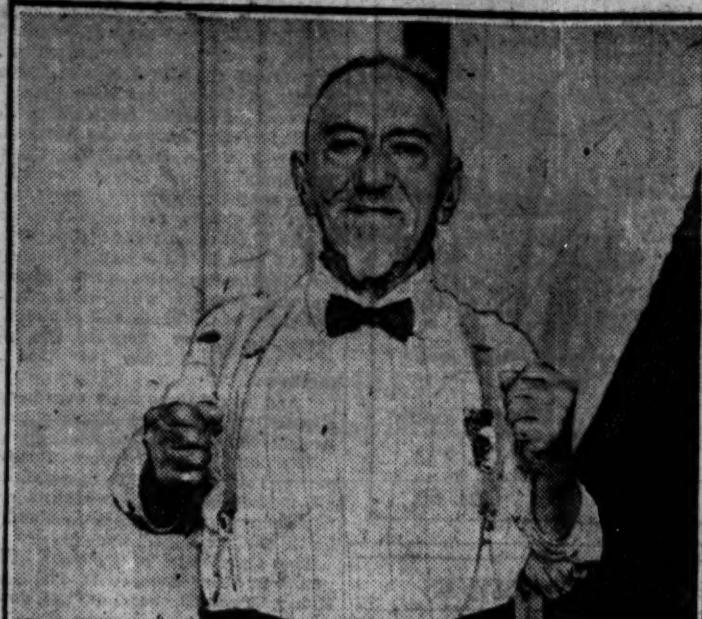

Of course, not all shops have fared as well as this, but it has not been an uncommon experience at all. Where prices have been cut to the point where they are below cost, there is a demand and probability of a further reduction, as purchasers respond.

At present the largest demand seems to be for women's apparel of all kinds. Summer dresses, wash garments, hose, lingerie, and hats have sold in as large volume as normally.

Raritan, N. J., July 1.—President and Mrs. Harding, accompanied by a party of friends, arrived in Raritan today for a four days' Fourth of July vacation at the home of Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen.

FULL OF PEP AT 88

Conrad Vierling, member of the senior class of the Louisville gymnastic association, here for the Turners' convention, is 88 years old, but he is still as supple and spry as most young men. He surprised those who watched the stunts he went through yesterday at Riverview park.

88 YEARS OLD, BUT GYMNAST TRICKS ARE EASY FOR HIM

"Never Bothered by a Wife," Turner Says.

Conrad Vierling is 88 years old, yet he is supple and spry as any young man one could name. He is a member of the senior class of the Louisville Gymnastic association, and he took part yesterday in the program of the Turners held in Riverview park.

"How can you do these exercises, grandpa?" some one asked him. "How can you do them so easily, and in such heat?"

The old man smiled and winked.

"Easy enough," he said. "I never was bothered by a wife. I like the ladies, tall ones, small ones—all that. But when it comes to marrying them—ah, no!"

Another Gymnast Is 75.

Mr. Vierling is the oldest man in the senior class. Edward Drevenstedt, the next oldest, is 75. The youngest of the nine is 44 years old—a mere infant compared to Conrad Vierling.

The Turners held a model exhibition in Medina Temple last night. Tomorrow the women will hold a swimming and diving contest at 9 o'clock in the morning in the Lincoln park lagoon.

Woman Runs Fast Race.

Women are taking a prominent part in the tournament. Miss Emma Solberger of the St. Louis Turnverein was declared the champion individual performer of the day, having made a record of 6.45 seconds for the fifty yard dash.

Among other women performers were twenty fencers of the Rock Springs society, St. Louis, and forty girls from the Indianapolis Gymnastic association.

KATE R. O'HARE LOSES CHANCE TO SPEAK, KIDNAPED

Twin Falls, Idaho, July 1.—Kate Richards O'Hare, Socialist writer and lecturer, who was released from federal prison by President Wilson after she had served fourteen months of her sentence for violating the espionage law, was this afternoon kidnapped by a party of a dozen or more unidentified men. She had come here to deliver a lecture tonight.

Inadequate descriptions of her abductors have been furnished the authorities, but no trace of them has been found.

One report is that she is being carried 150 miles across the desert into Nevada.

YELLOW CAB CO. SECURES CAMP FOR EMPLOYEES

The Yellow Cab company has leased a 40 acre wooded farm near Oswego, Ill., on the Fox river, as a rest camp for its 4,000 employees and their families.

The camp will be open July 4. In addition to tents, which will accommodate approximately 800 persons at once, the company has built a dance pavilion, strung a number of swings, and put in a complete playground for children. A physician and nurse will occupy the company hospital on the premises.

The company is furnishing the camp complete with the exception of food. Each family will have its own tent, own stove, and its own equipment.

MARSHALS FAIL TO FIND EXPERTS; LANDIS SETS TIME

And Judge Is Positive He Expects Attendance.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

The city's five building and real estate experts, who have refused information requested regarding their incomes, taxes, didn't meet Judge Landis yesterday. They are expected, however, next Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

United States deputy marshals, armed with attachments, hunted for the experts a large part of Thursday night—but in vain.

Perhaps Judge Landis was a trifle disappointed, but he didn't show it. He listened attentively to the statement of Attorney Francis L. Lowes for Ernest H. Lyons, while Attorney John C. Farwell for Arthur S. Merle stood near by. The judge apparently was in a gentle mood. His tone was kindly, his demeanor was considerate, and his action was generous but site.

Asks No Embarrassing Questions.

He asked no question about how it happened that each of the five were inaccessible to deputy marshals, or what the maid at the Lyons home in Evanston told the deputy marshal regarding the departure of Lyons Thursday from the city. Again he was considerate in fixing the bonds at $1,000, and later still more so in eliminating the necessity for bond altogether upon the promise of the lawyer that he would produce the experts next Wednesday.

He was generous in suggesting Wednesday when the lawyer had only asked for delay until Tuesday. But he was extremely positive in insisting that the lawyer promise—and remember he had promised—to produce the experts Wednesday without more effort and work on the part of the government.

Experts of the Big Fees.

These are the experts who collected in about a year $2,742,000 from the city treasury for their services. To recover this sum for the benefit of the taxpayers of Chicago The Tribune company has filed a class action lawyer's suit in both the Superior and Circuit courts.

The continuance in the Superior court-suit, granted at the request of Mayor Thompson and the city propte, will expire July 10.

THE TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

By JANE EDDINGTON.

The Blueberry.

The blueberry is a fruit with which you do not require cream, though top milk is better with it than blue skinned. Just stir the blueberries after they have been washed and drained, and eat with the milk, both well chilled for the best effect, and for delicious refreshment on a hot day.

One needs to be able to write of foods as did Elizabeth Robins Pennell to do this combination justice. Her book ultimately called "The Delight of Delicate Eating," was first called "Wares of Autocous" when it was running in the Palm Court Gazette of London and next at the book form as "The Feast of Autocous."

Anybody who would like to read about "Enchanting Coffee," "The Triumphant Tomato," "The Incomparable Onion," and so forth, should go to this book.

In another and older book it says that the blueberry, the true low bush, is called the "sugar berry," since it is quite sweet. Yes, good blueberries are as sweet as sugar. They are first picked, but they lose a little of their flavor and some of the floury bloom in getting to market, so we add a little sugar to blueberries and milk.

Canned blueberries are something else again, but have always been held in high esteem for pies. Follow the complete cold pack system in canning them. The processing time is brief, sixteen minutes, in a water bath.

Here is your blue for the red, white and blue of the national holidays, but as for me I would prefer that the red for the meal came first in something like a tomato soup, the white as something like white fish, or the blue and white together in blueberries and milk.

But by a long, long process elaborate gelatin bags with blueberry blue, plum red, and whipped egg white, can be made.

One evening recently I attended a porch party at the home of a friend. Ice cream was being served to a group of us at one end of the porch. A second helping was being made, during which time the sister of our hostess came up the stairs and was being introduced.

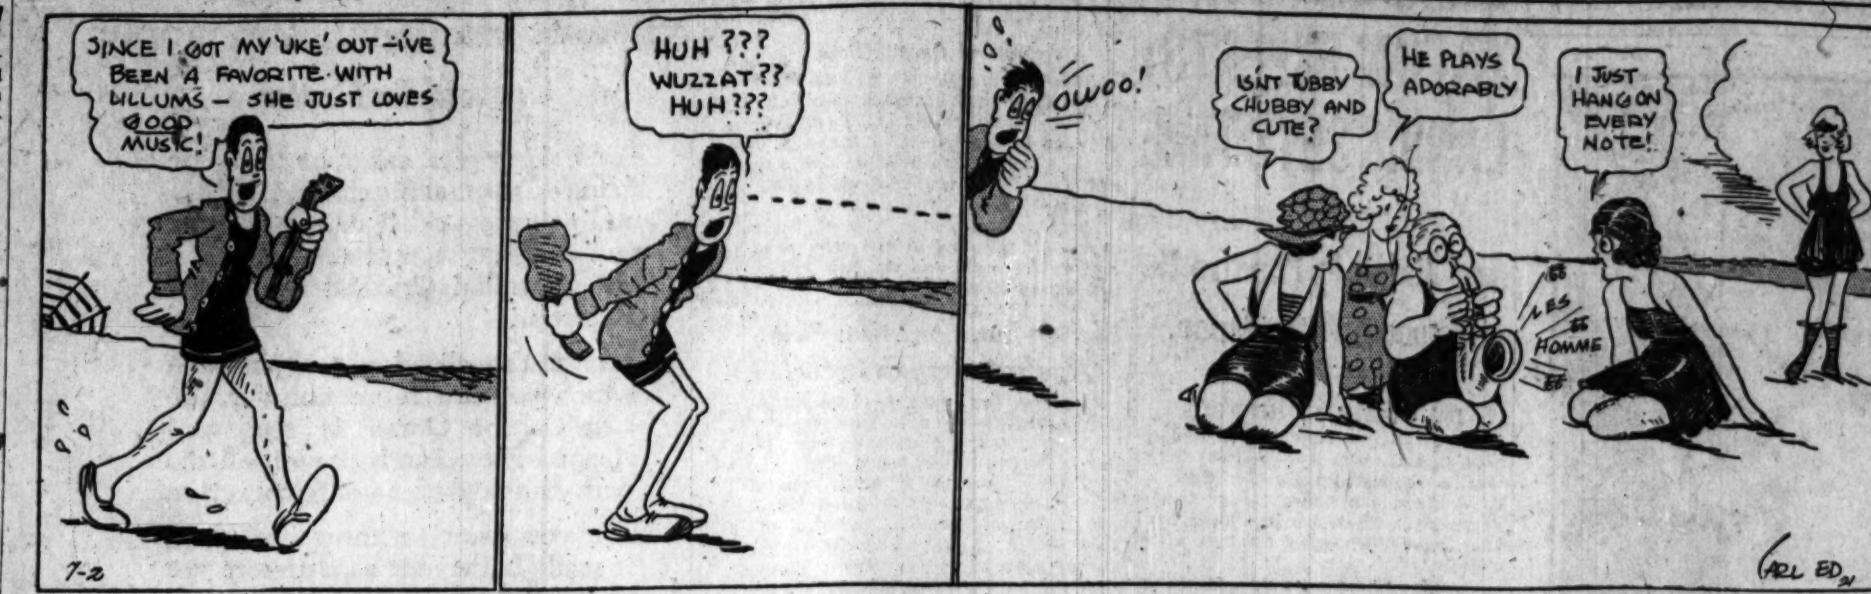

Not noticing this and hearing only the mention of my name, when the hostess said, "Mr. West, I want you to meet my sister," I said, "No, thank you." Result, my embarrassment and loud laughter from the other guests.

Many House Parties at Country Homes and Clubs for July 4

LARGE house parties which used to be the favorite mode of entertainment over holidays and week ends "before the war," are becoming almost extinct. There are two reasons for this condition; first, the domestic help problem of today makes it almost impossible to entertain a number of guests for a longer period than several hours, and second, a party of thirty individuals can do much irreparable damage to a "private stock." And so nowadays hospitable couples invite a few friends at a time for short stays at their country residences and although there are some who bemoan the passing of the large parties, many prefer the smaller and chummer ones of today.

On Monday makes a three day's holiday and every one who possibly can is taking advantage of it to leave the city and enjoy the country for several days. Most of the clubs will have special Independence day celebrations on Monday.

Among those who will have house guests over the week end in Wheaton are Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lyford, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Richardson and Col. Harry Carbaugh. Mr. and Mrs. Lyford's guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Lyford and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cobb Jr. Mr. Lyford will give dinner parties tonight and Monday at the Chicago Golf club for his guests.

Music Written by Gen. Dawes Wins Kreisler's Praise

BIG, GEN. CHARLES G. DAWES, composer!

Yes, sir, the chairman of the board of directors of the Central Trust company and the man who is now organizing the government's new budget system, sometimes writes music.

One of his compositions, called "Melody in A Major," has just been put on record by Fritz Kreisler.

The musical catalogue has a word or two to say about it.

"Perhaps the sweet tribute to this record has been afforded by Kreisler himself," it says, "for he first played it for its musical beauty without knowing the identity of the composer.

The composition is in a slow, rocking rhythm, almost an ideal berceuse, with its phrases joined by odd little tendrils of melody. The harmonies are gracefully woven in and out of major and minor.

Mr. Dawes, blushing, admitted that he plays and writes a bit. This particular piece was given to a music teacher and he had it published.

"Faust," Well Done, Please a Large Ravinia Audience

BY EDWARD MOORE.

HE audience was large and in good mood for the pastoral stories of "Faust" last night, and the ardent band at Ravinia responded by giving a well rounded and commendable performance.

The soloist was the Marguerite, playing the rôle in a tone of demure sophistication which was strong when an emotion was to be projected. Not quite as artless as some other prima donnas try to make her—there are nearly as many varieties of Marguerites as there are Carmens—she was entirely credible. She has an individual tone in her voice that is good for singing and better for interpretation. She hopes that she aroused in her first performance a few nights ago would seem to be well on the way to realization.

Charles Hackett has learned to sing the title rôle in French since last summer. It is a great improvement. He is also singing much better than than. He has distinct pictorial values, and he knows his way about, operatically speaking. In spite of the leisurely pace of the performance, he was in the picture and decidedly in the score.

Then there was the Mephistopheles, playing the rôle in a tone of demure sophistication which was strong when an emotion was to be projected. Not quite as artless as some other prima donnas try to make her—there are nearly as many varieties of Marguerites as there are Carmens—she was entirely credible. She has an individual tone in her voice that is good for singing and better for interpretation.

DAWES PREDICTS U. S. SAVING OF $900,000,000

Washington, D. C., July 1.—Charles Gates Dawes of Chicago took the oath as director of the budget today in the presence of President Harding and the bureau chiefs who will prepare the figures for the first United States budget. The president told the bureau chiefs that Mr. Dawes was to be " obeyed without question." Mr. Dawes set as his goal a saving of $900,000,000. Survey was ordered in all departments. The results are to be submitted to the president, showing what economies can be made effecting savings in present appropriations. Then the sums fixed by the president are to be taken as the maximum available in each department. The balance, in each case, is to be set aside under the title of a "general reserve."

Savings Desired by Dawes.
The saving desired by Mr. Dawes is on the appropriations already authorized. The first actual budget will deal with the fiscal year of 1922. Money for the fiscal year of 1922, which began today, has been appropriated. The sum voted by congress is close to $4,000,000,000. The money available includes some unexpended balances, contingencies, appropriations, and the money voted to take care of deficiencies.

Directing the bureau chiefs to obey Mr. Dawes, President Harding called attention to the fact that he intends to keep in touch with the work of the budget bureau. The bureau is to have its estimates ready for congress in December. Mr. Harding cited an incident of the war as the sort of thing he wants to avoid.

The President said at one time the shipping board and the Emergency Fleet corporation were having trouble getting steel. He said he was visited by the chairman of the steel industry board, who said he had read of the difficulties in the papers.

Didn't Know Natural Conferences.

Mr. Harding said he had asked the man if he knew either the chairman of the shipping board or of the Emergency Fleet corporation, and received a negative reply. Mr. Harding said those men apparently had been trying to get steel "over the heads" of the man who was chairman of the steel industries board.

The President declared that one of the foreign diplomats had been instructed to watch the budget work closely and report to the government. The pressmen said the American people were watching the work no less closely, and the success he hoped would attend it was a matter of world interest.

HOWAT FOUND GUILTY BY JURY; ASKS NEW TRIAL

Columbus, Kan., July 1.—Alexander Howat and August Dorchy, president and vice president of the Kansas Miners' union, were found guilty of violating the Kansas industrial court law criminally by calling a strike by a jury in the Cherokee county District court this afternoon.

The jury found Howat and Dorchy guilty of a misdemeanor.

Although Howat had been adjudged guilty of previous offenses against the industrial court this was his first conviction.

"It was the judge's instructions that did it," Howat declared. "I was guilty of a felon or guilty of nothing."

The courtroom was filled when the jury's verdict was read. Many miners were in town. There was no demonstration.

BIRTHS INCREASE AND DEATHS LOSE IN CHICAGO RACE

If the present birth and death rate curves keep bending until 2021 or thereabouts, Chicago will be an overpopulated and deathless city.

There were 5,511 births, according to the latest departmental records, and in spite of an estimated increase in population of 50,000, deaths numbered only 2,291 as compared to 2,240 last year.

Chicago's fate is illustrated by the following birth and death figures for the first six months of the two years:

	1920.	1921.
Births	25,326	30,404
Deaths	20,876	16,063

The increase in the number of births for the period was 5,078 and the decrease in deaths 4,813.

HOOI TELLS OF $100,000 LOSS BY
PLUMBERS' RULES*Union Code Ties Up Work on Apartment House.

A toup of work on the Park Gate apartment building at 63d street and Stony Island avenue, caused by the rules of the Master Plumbers' association, cost the Hooi Realty company more than $100,000, according to James A. Hooi, head of that company.

Mr. Hooi said he had let the plumbing contract to the J. Loughlin company on a cost plus basis, the maximum figure to be $40,000.

"The building is only half done, and we already have paid out $46,500 for the plumbing," Mr. Hooi said. "We wanted to get some one else to do the work, but we couldn't. We were told at the Master Plumbers' association we couldn't get anybody else to do the work unless Loughlin released us."

Named Men He Saw.

"Whom did you see at the Master Plumbers' association?" asked Attorney Joseph C. Fleming.

"Mr. Lang and Mr. Munn," the witness replied.

Peter M. Munn, secretary of the Master Plumbers' association, and William J. Lang, manager of the Sanitary Engineering & Credit association, previously had been called to testify, and for the second time in two days had refused to answer questions on the grounds they might incriminate themselves.

Mr. Hooi told of a bad leak that was damaging the building and of his efforts to get some one to repair it.

"The only person we could get was Loughlin," the witness said, "and his bill for repairs was $2,700. We paid him $800 and told him we would pay him in full if he would sign a release directed to the Master Plumbers' association, so we could get some one else to do the work. He refused, and we have done a thing for him. Our losses have been in excess of $10,000."

Refers to Graft on Theater.

Mr. Hooi told of other labor difficulties and spoke of a conversation with Mort Singer, manager of the Orpheum circuit, in which Mr. Singer told of having paid $10,000 to settle troubles of the State-Lake building.

He gathered from the conversation, he said, that Mr. Singer had previously paid out $40,000.

The commission, sitting for the first time in a permanent body under the new bill, adjourned until July 12 to give Mr. Fleming time to get his evidence together in regard to various combinations for the purposes of price fixing and restraining trade.

Among the organizations to be investigated are the Building Construction Employers' association, the Associated Builders, the Master Plumbers' association, Master Steamfitters' association, Contracting Plasterers' association, Illinois Brick Manufacturers' association, and the various contracting organizations formed by various unions.

DROWNING MAN RESCUED AFTER 20 MINUTE FIGHT

After a desperate struggle with a drowning man that lasted twenty minutes at Ravinia beach yesterday, Frank Berry of Ravinia succeeded in rescuing Paul Dower, manager of the concession at Ravinia park.

When Dower attempted to swim to a nearby pier, he seized with cramps. Hearing his cries, went to the rescue. The drowning man grabbed Berry by the neck. A struggle lasting twenty minutes followed. Berry succeeded in rendering Dower unconscious and swam to the shore with him. Dower was revived with an oxygen machine.

BEDFORDS MOVE TO LIBERATE SON

Charles Bedford, son of Charles E. Bedford, vice president of the Vacuum Oil Company of New York, under sentence of from three to five years for stealing an automobile, is to remain in the county jail at Michigan City, Ind., one more day to give his attorney an opportunity to enter an insanity plea.

This was announced late last night by the jail authorities. Previously it had been declared that Bedford would be in the state reformatory at Jeffersonville, serving his sentence before morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Bedford, the boy's parents, are on their way to Michigan City. They assert their son was not responsible, that the case was not one for the courts, but for a sanitarium, and that steps have been taken to change the court's decree.

Corean, Deserter by Wife, Hides Baby; Is Arrested

Don O'Kinn, a Korean, being a chef who works, is temperamental. Therefore when his wife, Helen, left their home at 2697 Prairie avenue Thursday night, saying that she was going to find a room and live by herself, he took their 6 months old baby and hid it somewhere. When his wife went back to get the baby last night he told her that he had thrown it into the lake. She complained to the Cotter Grove police, who took O'Kinn into the station to explain what became of the baby. He refused and was booked on a charge of disorderly conduct.

200 DRY AGENTS
FOR KJELLANDER
TO MOP UP OASES*New Illinois Director Has Funds for Big Squad.

Thirsty souls who have been enjoying comparative immunity from the prohibition amendment due to lack of funds for its enforcement will shortly be confronted with an energetic force of 200 special agents.

John J. Kjellander, new state prohibition agent, announced this last night following information from Washington that his office had been extended to include that formerly occupied by Ralph W. Stone. Mr. Kjellander, before, has been prohibition enforcement officer merely of the Chicago district.

Mr. Stone resigned several weeks ago and yesterday his resignation was accepted.

Ample Funds Promised.

Washington has promised ample funds for the enforcement of the law.

Kjellander said, and he will bend every effort to bring violators of the prohibition law to justice.

Kjellander's office as federal director of the district comprising five states has been discontinued by the reorganization announced two weeks ago in Washington. Each state will have a separate prohibition director.

Agents in Kjellander's office are investigating the Atlas Brewing company, which is the largest manufacturer of beer of more than 5 per cent alcohol content ever found.

A truck load of beer seized Wednesday night led to the arrest yesterday of two officials of the brewery, Vice President Edward M. Kralovec and Secretary Anton Laadt. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of the president, Otto Kublin.

The city health department is investigating beer seized in seventeen bars to discover whether either has been used to put a "kick" in it.

"We will know tomorrow what gives the beer that heady feeling," said Dr. F. O. Tonney, head of the department laboratories.

Two Held for Giant Still.

Two men were arrested yesterday charged with owning and operating the huge moonshine still discovered at 1112 Milton avenue Thursday night following a fire in the building.

The owners of the still, John Miller and his son-in-law, John Dolan, are the men arrested. They were released in bonds of $2,000 by Commissioner Glass.

Both denied any knowledge of the still. They said the basement where the still was found had been rented to Frank Stanziano.

Take Fred Spiegel, 49 year old citizen of Gary, Ind., for instance. In accepting Mrs. Orr's invitation he adds that single life is irking him. Fred weighs 175 pounds, makes $5 a day and would—states this solemnly—be willing to give all but 50 cents of this to his bride. Moreover, he would treat her to a movie once a week and go to church with her even Sunday and—

So you can see this lonely heart party will be full of possibilities.

SHOOTS BROTHER
FOR CHASTISING
THEIR SISTER

Harry Shapiro, 123 North Maplewood avenue, was taken to St. Mary's hospital with two bullet wounds in his chest last night following an altercation with his brother, Joseph, 21.

Joseph objected to the means Harry took to discipline Ideal, their sister. Ideal, it appears, was visiting cabarets. Often she came home late. Harry remonstrated with her, and finally chastised her.

Joseph became angered. Last night he met his brother with a revolver and fired twice at his head. The police have been trying to locate young Shapiro and his sister, but both have disappeared.

Body of Drowned High School Boy Recovered

The body of William C. Reinhold Jr., 19 years old, 1005 Ashland avenue, Wilmette, a New Trier High school student, who was drowned when the canoe in which he and two classmates were canoeing overturned in the lake off Wilmette on June 12, was recovered yesterday by the coast guard crew in Evanston. Lawrence Skewes and Harold Lundberry, both of Wilmette, remonstrated with her, and finally chastised her.

Joseph became angered. Last night he met his brother with a revolver and fired twice at his head. The police have been trying to locate young Shapiro and his sister, but both have disappeared.

MAJOR WANTS TO SEE ALL CHICAGO
IN SHIRT SLEEVES

Maj. Lathrop Collins, a business man with offices in the Monadnock block, wants to start a new style for men in Chicago.

"Shirt sleeves" Maj. Collins said, "is the thing. I've been going around all day in my shirt sleeves. Simply left my coat at home. That's the way all the men seem to do, and I'm making it start. I think you published once in the paper that such a movement has been started, everybody would adopt it at once."

Watch the streets today and see if Maj. Collins is right about it.

Although experiencing considerable difficulty and distress, Grover Cleveland Alexander succeeded yesterday in trimming the heavy clouding St. Louis Cardinals in the first of a series of four games.

The count was 8 to 6, and four different times during the combat the score was tied, the Cubs shoving over the pair of winning tallies in the seventh.

Fourteen blows of considerable solidity were registered by Alexander, both of which aided in the scoring, but on the other hand, the boys came to Aleck's rescue on three occasions with double plays that killed off openings for the enemy.

North Easy for Cubs.

Jess Haines toiled on the rubber against the Cubs for six rounds, after which he retired for a pinch hitter, and young Mr. North finished the winning tallies were garnered off North.

Bits of daring on the bases perhaps injured the chances of the Cards, to gain victory. Two runners were killed off, but two others were safe, and two were knocked off second base.

Clifton Heathcock, probably as fleet footed a lad as there is in the league, attempted to come home from second on a rather daring chance, a swat right to Barber on the first hop. Barber nailed him. Only one was out at the time.

Fournier Killed at Second.

Jack Fournier, after banging on against the right field legged it for a gain, but was unable to make it, that ought to be at least a double. But the ball bounded back into Flack's hands and Joiceus was nailed.

On the other hand, the Cubs utilized their blows to advantage as well as three errors made by the enemy. The best blow of the day was a four base hit into the bleachers by Mr. Kelleher, who is looming up more and more as a real slugger. Maisel poised a triple, and Grimes got his customary two-bagger against the wall in right center, every one of those blows did business.

Hits by Smith and Hornsby, with a pass to Fournier, gave the Cubs one in the first, and the Cubs tied it in the second on Barber's hit, Maisel's sacrifice, and O'Farrell's swat.

Kelleher's Homer Big Aid.

Kelleher's home put Chicago ahead in the third, the Cards tied it in the fourth on Hornsby's single. Turner, and Clemens' sacrifice fly. Hornsby's double, Maisel's sacrifice, and O'Farrell's hit put the Cubs ahead in the last half, but in the fifth the Cards got two on hits by Haines, Smith and Fournier, and a fumble by Maisel.

Kelleher and Grimes tied it again in the last half with a single, double, and in the sixth the Cards scored two on Maisel's triple, singles by Deal and O'Farrell, and Kelleher's sacrifice fly. Four hits by Clemens, Heathcock, Smith, and Fournier in the seventh tied it again, but in the home half the Cards tallied the winners on Grimes' walk followed by singles by Barber, and Maisel and an error by Heathcock.

Cubs Swap Robertson for Ponder, Pirate Pitcher

Dave Robertson, outfielder, yesterday was traded by the Cubs to Pittsburgh for Pitcher Earl Ponder, according to announcement by Secretary Johnny Egan. Ponder will report to Manager Evans today, having left Pittsburgh last night. Robertson will join the Pirates tomorrow. The trade was made to strengthen the Bruins' hurling staff.

Marries Tennessee Girl

Taking advantage of last Thursday's date in the Cubs' schedule, Outfielder Turner Barber leaped aboard a train for Jackson, Tenn., where his mother resides. From there he went to Milan, Tenn., and was quietly married to Miss Effie Brownling. The couple arrived in Chicago yesterday morning.

WHEAT PRICES LOWER DESPITE BAD CROP NEWS

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

Lower prices for wheat in the face of the unfavorable crop outlook in the northwest, with smaller prices for corn and oats and a general evening up for three holidays, Saturday to Monday inclusive, featured the day's trading. At the finish wheat was 1 1/4 lower, while corn was 1/2 to 1 1/4 higher, July being the strength. Oats were 1/2 to 1 1/4 higher and rye was 1/2 to 2 lower for the day.

Closing prices, compared with a week ago, show losses of 40¢ on wheat, the latter on July, while corn was 40¢ higher, oats 1/2¢, rye 1/4¢, barley 4¢, pork 1/2 lower to unchanged, lamb 5¢ higher, and short ribs 2¢ lower to unchanged for the week.

Watch Spring Wheat

Every day of dry, hot weather in the northwest reduces the spring wheat prospects. It was 108 in western North Dakota Thursday and high temperatures prevailed over the entire section until noon, when there was a slight drop.

Predictions were for hot, dry weather for the next three days, which traders regarded as likely to create a critical if not a sensational crop situation. The feature is that the highest temperatures are largely in the light soil territory of central and western North Dakota, where the crop has rapidly under adverse conditions. A Minnesota man who knows the northwestern territory thoroughly wired that a few more days of dry weather with high temperature would place the crop beyond redemption. In the face of these conditions, traders became scared and many sold out on reports of rains along the Great Northern in Montana and our predictions of a change by a local weather crop expert.

There was buying by the seaboard on the break and a fair business was done at the end, although no figures were given. The Red Star had winter wheat premiums lowered. July wheat was under pressure, and at one time was a slight discount under September. At the lowest July was $1.25, or 5¢ below the highest of the day, with the finish $1.22 1/2. September touched $1.21 at the low, with the finish $1.21 1/2.

December started at about the same price as September, and at one time was 1¢ premium, while the close was $1.22, or 4¢ over September.

Corn Crop Reports "Bearish."

The trade construed the private crop reports on corn as bearish, as they showed more than 3,000,000,000 bushels.

The elevator strike is not regarded as serious, as eight houses were in operation with new crews. Deliveries were well taken care of, which strengthened the July, and it advanced from 1¢ discount to 1¢ premium over September at the time.

The top price of 59¢, with the close $2 1/2, while the market finished at $2 1/2 and December at $2 1/2. Buying of July and selling of September was a feature. The trade is looking for big receipts on Tuesday.

Poor crop reports on oats were without effect in the way of bringing buying orders, yet the strength in corn induced short covering and prices moved up 1¢ B.M., with the close 4 1/2¢ from the top.

Rye was neglected and July broke 2¢, closing slightly above the low points.

Fair buying of provisions and lamb, and the market made a moderate advance, while the market was 1/2¢ lower.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

All the grain markets in the United States and that at Winnipeg will be closed today. The latter will be opened Monday, but the United States markets will all be closed.

Should weather over the American and Canadian northwest remain hot and dry until next Tuesday, traders are looking for higher prices for wheat and other grains. With the cool, dry rain the disposition is to expect a break. There are extremely high temperatures in Arizona and some weather students of the grain trade predict the hot wave will move east and north. There were reports of hot winds in South Dakota late in May and of scattered showers in Colorado and Edmonton. Measures said it looked more like thunder showers and added the country needs heavy rain and weather. Lettermen Crop Experts Cromwell, Illinois, say there is little rain in the forecast for the first part of spring when wheat crop will go backward rapidly.

There were 4,000,000 bushels of corn delivered on July 1st yesterday; also 800,000 bushels of wheat, 1,200,000 bushels of oats and 1,000,000 bushels of barley.

Grain company and eastern houses paid for the corn and the Armour interests took in the bulk of the lard. Those who buy the corn and oats mostly obtained rice in exchange for protection.

Lard stocks in Chicago are 115,183,000 lbs., the largest on record, an increase of 18,078,000 lbs. last month, mostly in contract lard stocks compare with 95,580,000 lbs. last year and 124,000 lbs. the two years ago. Total stocks of meats increased 358,000 lbs. for the month and are 126,129,000 lbs. again 162,477,000 lbs. last year.

Two board of trade memberships sold yesterday at $8,300 and $8,400 not to the buyers.

Chart shows meat made at the Pacific coast to take out 6,000,000 bu. wheat in July, or equal to the carryover from the old crop.

The Wabash elevator, with a capacity of 1,500,000 bu., has been made "regular" for the delivery of grain and feed seed under the rules of the board of trade.

CASH GRAIN NEWS

A feature of the export situation was the absence of foreign demand. What bids were received were mostly for small quantities.

Belgium bought 225,000 bu. Argentine wheat, although American offered out cheaper. It is expected to buy 100,000 bu. wheat within the next ten days and may probably take Manitoba. Gulf premiums were high, with liberal offerings.

Contract shipping rates to Europe at Chicago were 20,000 bu. wheat, 30,000 bu. corn and 100,000 bu. oats. Sales of 100,000 bu. at $1.00/bu. 1/2¢/bu. were made for September, and at one time was 1¢ premium, while the close was $1.22, or 4¢ over September.

The "Big Doings" at Jersey City will be fully and accurately reported in today's EVENING AMERICAN

Over the banker's desk, at the breakfast table, on the sidewalks, indoors or out, wherever men and women congregate, the all-important subject of conversation today is the impending tilt between Georges and Jack.

TRACK and FIELD
Events Well Reported

Both college and school events are thoroughly covered by a staff of expert writers, and no event of consequence is neglected. At the two great colleges special correspondents are alert for the very latest news and gossip of the track and field men.

Chicago SWIMMERS Are Plentiful
With miles upon miles of fine beaches, the river and park lagoons, the indoor tanks, it is no wonder that stellar swimming events, professional and amateur, are frequent here. You will always find them splendidly reported on the sports pages.

Chicago Is Keen for TENNIS
So the Evening American "covers" for its readers every tournament of importance, and always provides a full quota of news of the courts.

The
of KINGS
Although we have none of it at home, Chicago is tremendously interested in horse racing. Each day the Evening American gives last minute news from the tracks so that the city's appetite for racing may be satisfied in some measure even if we have no local meets.

Ed Smith will report the battle from the ringside for readers of the EVENING AMERICAN

This writer, whose analytical and unbiased observation of fights and fighters has earned for him nationwide recognition as a fight authority, has spent weeks in the rival camps. He will report the titular struggle point by point. T. A. Dorgan ("Tad"), Jim Corbett, former heavyweight champion, and a staff of expert observers will assist him.

EVERY form of sports and athletics is well represented in the two fine sports pages of the EVENING AMERICAN. Each story is written and edited by experts, and each bears the stamp of authority.

With the OARSMEN
Rowing is not yet as popular a sport in Chicago as it some day will be, but thousands of people are interested in it. So the Evening American reports all that is news about the regattas and inter-club events.

POLO Is Expensive
but Popular
Maybe that is why so many people who cannot play it are interested in the game. Right now it is more popular than ever in Chicago, where the recent International match was closely followed. At home and abroad the Evening American gives the best news of the game.

"SAILING, SAILING, Over the..."
Wonderful Lake Michigan, with its fresh breezes and sheltered harbors, appeals strongly to the sailor's heart. The lagoons and inlets are dotted with fine craft, and racing is a popular sport. No event escapes the nautical experts on the sports staff, who write with fine understanding of the game.

Vail Writes About GOLF

This famous Britisher is an international authority and his articles are eagerly read. Local golf is adequately "covered" by writers who know game and players.

FOOTBALL
as a Major Sport
A bit out of season right now, it is true, but important enough to call attention to because of the fine treatment football news receives in season. Complete reports of the Eastern and Western games, with detailed accounts of local games.

BASKETBALL Has Many Followers

Like football, it's a trifle hot to talk about it, but in season it ranks high in amateur sports. Each season the Evening American gives all the news of the basket-men, the events being covered always by special writers.

The BOX SCORE Edition

The National game is always given full space, and the famous "Box Score" edition each day tells Cub and Sox fans how their favorites behaved against the rival teams. And usually "First With the Latest."

We Have No
BOXING, Either

Boxing is another sport we must read about unless we want to travel far and expensively. And because so many people are interested in it (and would like to have it at home) it is always fully treated by the sports page experts. All stellar events everywhere are carefully reported, and the Evening American's sports pages are considered by many the court of last resort in all matters pertaining to the fistic art.

Everybody is interested in some sport, amateur or professional, indoor or out. So to be an all-round good newspaper the EVENING AMERICAN maintains a staff of sports writers and experts to make its sports pages interesting at all seasons. If you are not now reading about sports events in the EVENING AMERICAN, there is no time like today to begin.
